

Facts	What Does Minerva Do with Your Personal Information?
Why?	Financial companies choose how they share your personal information. Federal law gives consumers the right to limit some but not all sharing. Federal law also requires us to tell you how we collect, share and protect your personal information. Please read this notice carefully to understand what we do.
What?	The types of personal information we collect can include: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Social Security number• Income• Assets• Retirement assets• Investment Experience• Account Transactions When you are no longer our customer, we will continue to hold your information and share it as described in this notice.
How?	All financial companies need to share customers’ personal information to run their everyday business. In the section below, we list the reasons why financial companies can share their customers’ personal information, the reasons Minerva chooses to share personal information and whether you can limit this sharing.
Reasons We Can Share Your Personal Information		Does Minerva Share?	Can You Limit This Sharing?
For our everyday business purposes, such as to process your transactions, maintain your account(s), respond to court orders and legal investigations, or report to credit bureaus		Yes	No
For our marketing purposes to offer our products and services to you		No	We don’t share
For joint marketing with other financial companies		No	We don’t share
For our affiliates’ everyday business purposes—information about your transactions and experiences		Yes	No
For our affiliates’ everyday business purposes—information about your creditworthiness		No	We don’t share
Questions?	Go to www.minervawealth.com

Who We Are

Who is providing this notice?	Minerva Wealth Advisory 135 Madison Avenue Floor 5 New York, NY 10016 Office: 646-934-6874
-------------------------------	--

What We Do

How does Minerva Wealth Advisory protect my personal information?	To protect your personal information from unauthorized access and use, we use security measures that comply with federal law. These measures include computer safeguards and secured files and buildings.
How does Minerva collect my personal information?	We collect your personal information, for example, when you: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Open an account• Seek advice about your investments• Enter into an investment advisory account• Tell us about your investment or retirement portfolio• Tell us about your financial position or provide financial documents We also collect your personal information from others such as credit bureaus, affiliates or other companies.
Why can't I limit all sharing?	Federal law gives you the right to limit only: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Sharing for affiliates' everyday business purposes—information about your creditworthiness• Affiliates from using your information to market to you• Sharing for non-affiliates to market to you State laws and individual companies may give you additional rights to limit sharing. See below for more on your rights under state law.
What happens when I limit sharing for an account I hold jointly with someone else?	Your choices will apply to everyone on your account.

Definitions

Affiliates	Companies related by common ownership or control. They can be financial and non-financial companies.
Non-Affiliates	Companies not related by common ownership or control. They can be financial and non-financial companies.
Joint marketing	A formal agreement between non-affiliates financial companies that together market financial products or services to you: This may include banks, credit unions or other financial institutions with which we have a joint marketing agreement

Other Important Information

Information for California, North Dakota, and Vermont Customers

In response to applicable state law, if the mailing address provided for your account is in California, North Dakota, or Vermont, we will automatically treat your account as if you do not want us to disclose your personal information to non-affiliated third parties for purposes of them marketing to you, except as permitted by the applicable state law.

Minerva Wealth Advisory is a registered investment advisor registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission.